Each sport may conduct some type of fundraising campaign by the student athletes to help finance the cost of trips.

PAC Complimentary Passes

For sports that charge an entry fee, each student athlete is given four PAC (Presidents' Athletic Conference) Complimentary Passes at the beginning of the season. It is up to the student athlete to choose who receives these passes. The passes provide free entry to any Waynesburg University athletics home game or any away game at Allegheny, Bethany, Carnegie Mellon (football), Case Western (football), Chatham, Franciscan, Geneva, Grove City, Saint Vincent, Thiel, Washington & Jefferson, and Westminster.

Class Absences by Student Athletes

Student athletes will not be permitted to miss class due to a scheduled practice. Campus Ministry

The Center for Campus Ministry

The main meeting place for campus activities is the “Hub”. Located on the first floor of Stover Campus Center, the “Hub” has a living room-like atmosphere with couches, coffee, music, resources, and access to campus ministry staff. During the week, it is the home to many Bible studies and is a space for Christian fellowship. Students can also visit Becky Juliano, the Coordinator of Campus Ministry, whose office is located here.

How can students get involved in campus ministry?

- Weekly Chapel Worship Service each Tuesday at 1 P.M. in Roberts Chapel.
- Upper Room every Sunday at 8 P.M. (contemporary, student-led worship & student testimonies) meets in Roberts Chapel.
- Fellowship of Christian Athletes meets on Tuesdays at 9 P.M. in the Old Gym.
- Delight Women’s Ministry meets on Wednesdays at 7 P.M. in Stover 300’s.
- Newman Club (Roman Catholic-sponsored fellowship) holds meetings at various times and a college student mass at St. Ann’s on Sundays at 7 PM.

In addition to these regularly scheduled programs, students may also participate in:

- Small group Bible studies meet in the various residence halls. These are often led by Campus Ministry Assistants (CMA’s). Times are posted at the start of the semester in all residence halls and in the “Hub”.
- The Lamplighters, the university’s touring and concert choir.
- The University Chapel Band and opportunities to lead in Chapel services.
- Retreats and Conferences: Fall Retreat and Jubilee Conference in Pittsburgh.
- Attending local churches: Many WU students not only attend, but actively serve in various youth ministries or worship bands of local churches.

Is Chapel attendance mandatory?

Chapel attendance is not required; however, this is a great opportunity for the campus community to come together for worship and to grow in faith together. Chapel often features guest speakers: faculty members and off-campus guests that provide scripture-driven messages that point attendees to Christ.

Does the University conduct Sunday morning worship services?

No – We encourage students to become part of local church communities.

What churches are located in the community?

There many churches in the immediate vicinity of Waynesburg University, several within walking distance. Students may carpool to other locations.

A list of area churches is included in this guide.

How can a student get involved in campus ministry at Waynesburg University?

Students with interest or questions can contact University Chaplain, Anthony Jarrell anthony.jarrell@waynesburg.edu or Becky Juliano, rebecca.juliano@waynesburg.edu. Students can also visit the “Hub” on the first floor of the Stover Campus Center to build relationships with fellow students, learn about opportunities in campus ministry, and connect with campus ministry staff.

Commuting Students

Parking:

There are several university parking lots (they fill up quickly) where students with a parking permit are permitted to park. Freshmen can complete the Freshman Parking Permit Request Form under the New Student Tab of myConnect. The parking permit is $20.00 and is available for pick up during Welcome Days at the Department of Public Safety, located on the first floor of the Stover Campus Center. Parking in a university lot is not guaranteed, even with a parking permit. On-campus university parking lots are clearly marked; therefore, students should ensure that they are safely parking in designated areas only. There is free on-street parking available surrounding the campus.

Food Service:

Commuting students may purchase a Five-Meal Plan for $1280 per semester, which includes any 5 meals per week PLUS $300 flex dollars. Meal swipes for the 5 meals per week may be used at Benedum Dining Hall (all-you-can-eat) or at the Beehive (meal exchange equivalency). Flex dollars may be used at those locations and at the Starbucks, 24/7 Mini-Convenience Store and Chick-fil-A. Students may also purchase individual meals and snacks without a meal plan at any of the dining facilities, which accept cash and credit card payments.

Health Services:

All students are required to complete a Medical History Form and be up-to-date with all immunizations. All completed forms must be returned to Health Services. Students have access to the university nurse, who provides health services on campus. For more information, see the Health Services page.

Academic Services:

Commuting students have access to the computer labs on campus. Commuting students also have access to peer tutors, writing lab, and math tables.

Student Engagement / Student Activities:

All students pay a university fee, which includes funding for student activities, and clubs & organizations. You can find a complete list of clubs and organizations on the webpage. We encourage the students to take advantage of all programs, trips, and student activities offered. There is an active Student Activities Board (SAB) that plans events for the campus. The SAB meets every Thursday at 1 P.M. in Stover 301. All are welcome to attend.

Commuter Club:

Commuting students are encouraged to join the Commuter Club. This club offers our commuters a chance to feel a part of the University life. Stover 203 is designated as our Commuter Lounge, giving students a place to relax with other commuters between classes. Monthly programs are offered specifically for our commuters.

Counseling Center

The Counseling Center is located on the third floor of the Stover Campus Center. Counseling is confidential and free to all Waynesburg University students while enrolled and present in Pennsylvania. We are open from 8:30 AM – 4:30 PM Monday-Friday. In person or online appointments are available.

What issues does the Counseling Center address for students? The Counseling Center can help students with personal, academic, and career concerns.

We counsel students with a variety of mental health issues such as anxiety, depression, post-traumatic stress, eating disorders, relationship concerns, grief and homesickness. We also work with students to improve study skills and explore major/career options.

What credentials do the counselors have?

All full-time counselors are state licensed, have completed at least a Master's degree, and maintain extensive continuing education credits to practice counseling. Graduate interns are currently enrolled in accredited counseling graduate programs.

My student takes medication. Do you have a physician who will prescribe it? We encourage students to continue to see their home physician. If this is not possible, we can refer students to a local psychiatrist for medication and/or related matters.

Will counseling become part of my student's academic record?

No. Counseling Center records are accessible only to the Counseling Center staff.

My student has not decided on a major.

How can you help? It is quite common for a student to begin college with an undecided major. Our staff specializes in working with undecided or “exploring” students and are connected to various on-campus resources that help students clarify their career goals.

Will I know if my student is receiving counseling? Counseling services are confidential; therefore, we cannot report to parents or anyone else that a student is receiving services.

However, when we feel parental involvement is warranted, we discuss the option with the student and request permission to contact parents. Also, if we are concerned that a student may be at risk from suicide, self-harm, or abuse, we take any necessary steps to keep the student safe. This may include contacting parents if the student provides consent.

Can I refer my student to counseling?

Yes. If you have concerns as your student enters college, or if you notice a change in behavior that worries you, please inform him/her about counseling services. Often, parents call us if they have a concern and ask us to contact their student. If your student has had counseling in the past, or has a mental health diagnosis, please let us know so that we can offer appropriate support. We will be glad to explain our services and invite your student to participate. However, we can only give a parent feedback about participation if the student gives us permission to do so.

Our counselors would be happy to assist you via email to set up an appointment. Contact Ed Sutter at Edward.sutter@waynesburg.edu or at 724.852.7703

The Pathways Center

The Pathways Center is an initiative to provide comprehensive student support services including Tutoring, Mentoring, Disability Services, Career Development, Vocational Exploration, MUM System, Writing Center, Student Work Study Program, the Act 101 Educational Enrichment Program, Academic and Advising Support, Library Services, and more.

The Pathways Center is located in Eberly Library with collaborative referrals to and work with the Counseling Center, Student Development, Center for Entrepreneurial Leadership, Alumni Relations, Athletics, academic programs and others.

This document covers:

- Peer Tutoring
- Disability Services
- Career Development
- Student Work Study Program
- New Student Scheduling and Advising
- Act 101 Educational Enrichment Program
- Writing Center
- Eberly Library & Related Services

Peer Tutoring

Where can a student find tutoring on campus?

The Tutoring Center is located on the bottom level of the Eberly Library. The university offers free peer tutoring in most general education courses and some major-specific courses. Study groups/tables and exam review questions are offered by request.

How does a student get connected with a tutor?

Students log on to www.waynesburg.mywconline.com where they will schedule their appointment based on available courses and corresponding tutors. Students can access a link to the scheduling website, video tutorial on how to make an appointment, and all other tutoring-related forms on their myConnect homepage. Any student who needs help booking a session or requesting a class be added to the roster can contact Jaime Stanny Emerson at jaime.stanny@waynesburg.edu.

Who will be tutoring my student?

Faculty recommend the students who will be tutoring their courses. To qualify as a tutor, students must have an A or B in the class for which they tutor and demonstrate effective communication skills. The Waynesburg University tutors receive appropriate training prior to tutoring and are overseen by a member of the Pathways Center for supervision.

My student excels in a specific subject and needs a campus job. How does a student become a tutor?

Students interested in registering as a peer tutor can apply using the "Tutoring (Request, Apply, Recommend, Report)" form on myConnect. The professor for the course must submit a recommendation on behalf of the student before the process will continue.

What help is available in math and writing?

Tutors are available for specific math courses. The campus Writing Center is available to all students, in any course, for assistance in all areas of writing. The Writing Center schedule is posted at the beginning of each semester. Students can make appointments online using the same link for tutoring.

Disability Services

Where is the Disability Services Office located?

The Disability Services Office (DSO, herein) is located on the bottom level of the Eberly Library.

My daughter has a diagnosed disability. Are any services offered at the university level?

A variety of accommodations are available to assist students with disabilities at Waynesburg, though they will likely differ from what a student had in high school, and students must self-disclose disability and follow University procedures to initiate services. Students interested in arranging accommodations at WU are encouraged to review the Disability Services website to learn more or to contact DSO Coordinator Sarah Feldberg at sarah.feldberg@waynesburg.edu.

My son registered with the DSO and receives formal accommodations, but his instructors claim they are not aware of his condition.

At the college and university level, instructors of classes are not informed of student diagnoses. The DSO Coordinator notifies faculty about approved academic accommodations without any mention of specific disability or diagnosis. Students are encouraged to discuss implementation of approved accommodations with professors at the start of the semester; if desired, students may reveal diagnosis to their professors, but this is the student's choice. The DSO Coordinator is happy to guide students about self-advocacy and faculty communication as needed.

My grandson thought he didn't need academic accommodations he received in high school. Now, he is struggling midway through the first semester. Is it too late to register with the DSO?

No. Though we do encourage connecting with the DSO as early as possible, accommodations can still be established during a semester. Please note that accommodations cannot be applied retroactively to past assignments or exams submitted before the student connected with the DSO, however.

My niece says she has test anxiety. Can she receive accommodations?

Most students experience a degree of anxiety when being tested. However, accommodations are provided to students with substantially limiting documented disabilities/diagnoses. In the absence of a diagnosed disability, the student may discuss their situation or concerns with the DSO Coordinator, who may be able to recommend regional resources for care or evaluation depending on the situation.

My daughter is really struggling and is claiming she may have a learning disability. She was never tested for a learning disability in high school. What can she do now?

Waynesburg University does not provide diagnostic services for students with disabilities. Students who think they may have undiagnosed learning disabilities are encouraged to consult with health insurance and health care providers. In some instances, the DSO Coordinator may be able to recommend regional resources, but students/their families are responsible for direct coordination and cost of all diagnostic services.

My son registered with the DSO and received accommodations during the first semester. But his instructor during the second semester is unaware of the accommodations. Why so?

Since schedules and instructors change each semester, students are responsible for renewing academic accommodations on a semester basis. The DSO Coordinator provides extensive reminders and guidance about the process at the beginning of each new semester to the student via university email. Additional documentation is generally not required for renewal of permanent accommodations; students are only asked to identify which faculty members they would like to be notified of their accommodations.

What if my son/daughter student has dietary needs/food allergies?

WU's Dining Services provider, Aladdin, provides several options to meet the needs of students with many common food allergies. For instance, Benedum Hall includes a station called the A-Zone where items prepared without the 9 major allergens identified by the FDA (milk/dairy, eggs, fish, shellfish, tree nuts, peanuts, wheat, sesame, and soybeans) are served at both lunch and dinner. Students are encouraged to review dining services information and/or consult with the Dining Services Director prior to connecting with Disability Services. In many instances, existing options will be available to meet student needs without formal accommodation. However, students with conditions that impede participation in the meal plan are encouraged to review the University's Dining Accommodation Policy and consult with the Disability Services Coordinator.

What about residential accommodations?

Students interested in requesting residential accommodations are encouraged to review the University's Disability Services website and Housing Accommodation Policy and consult with the DSO Coordinator. Please note that the University has established a priority deadline of July 1 for housing accommodation requests for incoming students for the 24-25 academic year. While requests received after July 1 will be considered, the University cannot guarantee housing accommodation after this date.

It is also often helpful to note that residential accommodation requests are evaluated to determine medical/mental health need for the requested accommodation, rather than preference or success-based considerations like the desire for a quiet place to study.

Work-Study Eligibility & Application Process

Students who qualify for Federal Work Study will be informed through the financial aid process. Those who choose to apply for on-campus openings will be prioritized in the hiring process. Students must create a one-page resume prior to applying. The application is housed in Handshake, which students can access on myConnect. After students have logged into Handshake, they should complete the following steps:

- Click the “Jobs” tab on the top, left of the homepage
- Filter the search to “Work Study”
- Review openings and apply

Advising & Scheduling

My son received his schedule back in April, but he just received notification that his schedule has changed. I already bought the books!

We always caution that the schedules are tentative. There can be many reasons why schedules change—many of which are beyond our control. We do advise that when buying/renting books early, familiarize yourself with return policies and save receipts.

My son is enrolled in ENG 101 – English Composition I, but he took a similar class while still in high school. Will he need to take that course?

Students cannot receive credit for the same course twice. To receive credit, make sure that you send official transcripts and/or official AP scores to the University Registrar. Official transcripts are sent from the institution awarding the credit directly to Waynesburg University.

High school transcripts will not suffice.

My nephew took Calculus in high school but is enrolled in a Beginning Algebra class. What gives?

Initial math placement is determined by multiple data points from high school transcripts. Taking math courses along the sequence all 4 years in high school is advised—particularly if a student is planning to pursue a degree in science, math, or medical fields. However, if a student is dissatisfied with his/her initial placement, he/she can take a Math Placement challenge exam during Orientation in an attempt to increase placement level.

My daughter wants to change her major, but her schedule is already set. What can she do?

Students often change majors and it can happen at any time. If this occurs before the start of the semester, simply complete the change of major form (a link to this form was/will be contained in the e-mail informing you that your schedule was ready). If you cannot locate this form, contact your Admissions counselor. Once the change is processed, the schedule will be revised, and you will be sent a notification of the change.

My granddaughter is a transfer student, but her schedule shows that she is a “freshman”. We were told that many of her credits transferred, so why is she still a freshman?

Transfer credits will be posted to a student's WU transcript once the student starts here. So, the “freshman” designation is because the transfer credits have not yet been posted (so the computer reads zero credits). Refer to your transcript evaluation forms to see which/how many credits will transfer.

Now my daughter wants to change her major after spending a year in another major. That's going to set her back a year. Correct?

Research shows that 2 out of every 3 college students change their major at least once. Sometimes, a switch to a different major could mean extra semesters; sometimes, not. Please consult with a Pathways Center or Counseling Center staff member if you are considering a major change.

My son did not meet requirements in his major. He is now clueless. What can he do?

We want to see our students lead lives of purpose for the glory of God. Sometimes, this happens in a non-linear fashion. The initially chosen major may not always be a strong vocational fit. Students are continually acquiring information and gaining awareness of their own strengths and abilities; weakness can also be discovered. Both performance and interest in foundational courses should be self-evaluated. Students are encouraged to discuss vocation with their advisors. Students can also consult with one of the Pathways Center or Counseling Center staff members to assist with vocational exploration and/or academic planning. WU also offers a one-credit course, WBE 105 – Career & Life Planning, to help students in this process.

As a parent, I'm nervous about my child transitioning from high school. Do you have any suggestions?

Generally speaking, here are just a few tips to help your new college student to succeed:

- Attend classes – missing classes is a primary reason for poor grades. Resist temptation to skip classes. Make attending all of your classes a priority. Sit up front & actively engage.

- Check e-mail routinely – faculty and staff predominantly utilize e-mail for communication. Check it multiple times daily, if possible, and respond appropriately.
- Buy or rent required texts – some students will attempt to save money by trying to “get by” without required textbooks. Textbooks are often the primary basis of lectures and exams.
- Be responsible – much more responsibility is on the student's shoulders at the collegiate level. Attending classes on-time, establishing daily study routines, reading assigned chapters, and meeting deadlines are all sound practices to initiate.
- Avoid procrastination – one of the more common characteristics of a struggling student. Some say they work better “under pressure”, but that's typically an excuse for putting off doing what you don't really want to do. Waiting until the last minute to study, write a paper, or complete an assignment leaves less time and forces you to do what could have been done earlier—making it a larger and often more challenging task.
- Establish healthy habits – consistent sleep schedules and good eating/exercise habits can also play an important role. Attend counseling, if needed. Combat stress by finding ways to incorporate fun and relaxation into your schedule.
- Utilize campus resources – as noted herein, there are many offices and folks here at WU that want to see students succeed. Don't let pride or fear inhibit you from getting the support you need. We're here to help!

Act 101 Educational Enrichment Program

Students from the state of Pennsylvania who qualify for the Act 101 Educational Enrichment Program will be notified via mail and email. Through this program, students are paired with a staff mentor or counselor who serves as a guide for them throughout their time at Waynesburg University. Act 101 is a grant-funded program through PHEAA. Students who qualify for this program have access to additional perks including:

- Event Funding – Act 101 students can request to have the cost of events offered through Student Activities Boards (SAB) and Campus Ministry covered.
- Service Trips – The Act 101 program will cover at least part of the cost of any Pennsylvania-based service trip that qualifying students intend to participate in (the trip must be offered through the University's service office).
- Professional Development – Act 101 students can request to have the cost of any PA-based professional development opportunity (a conference or event) covered.
- Lending Library – A limited amount of funding is available to assist with purchasing hard-copy textbooks for Act 101 qualifying students. These textbooks will be available for student use through a lending library (students cannot individually use the book).
- Program Events – Specific events are hosted for Act 101 students throughout the academic year.

Writing Center

Waynesburg University Writing Center is a place for all levels of writers to talk about writing. A comfortable place to discuss words, the Writing Center's primary goal is to help writers engage in the writing process, build a toolbox of techniques and resources, and produce a strong final product. The Writing Center isn't a drop-off, fix-it shop; instead, we engage in personalized, one-on-one conversations about writing.

Students who need assistance with any writing-related project can make an appointment through our scheduling platform, WC Online. Undergraduate Writing Center appointments are hosted in person in our newly-renovated space within the Pathways Center on the bottom floor of Eberly Library. The Writing Center is staffed with highly trained peer writing consultants and undergraduate and graduate-level coordinators. We look forward to talking about your writing with you!

What can the Writing Center do for students?

Our consulting team provides reader-response suggestions to help students answer the following questions about their writing:

- Am I meeting the assignment's specifications?
- Is my focus clear?
- Do my supporting examples make sense?
- Am I using the correct structure, grammar, and format?

By reacting as readers, we can help students identify, respond, and strategize ways to improve writing from assignment to assignment!

Should students visit right before a paper is due?

No! Don't wait. The earlier and more often students visit, the more time we can spend helping them produce their best work. Students can visit the Writing Center at any stage of the writing process.

What happens during an appointment?

For an in-person, undergraduate appointment, students schedule a 30 or 60-minute appointment with a peer consultant. During the appointment, students tell the peer tutor about the assignment, work with them on a few specific writing issues, and leave with tools to use in current and future writing. Students cannot just drop off a paper to be proofread – they must be present and interact in the collaborative process of the appointment.
